For the first time ever, the world's largest hands-on LEGO® event of its kind catapults from the US to make its UK debut in Edinburgh this Spring. Brick Fest Live will open at the Edinburgh Royal Highland Centre Lowland Hall on 4-6 May, with over a million LEGO® bricks on display and ready for play!

Brick Fest Live allows families to enjoy mind-blowing creations from all over the world made entirely of this timeless toy. Children and adults will be amazed by life-sized LEGO® models and hands-on building activities assembled to set the imagination free. Brick Fest Live will also feature an enormous marketplace where avid builders will be able find rare collectibles not available anywhere else.

“We’re incredibly excited to bring the smash hit Brick Fest Live all the way from the USA to venues in the UK for the first time ever. This is an event for all the family as well as hardcore LEGO® enthusiasts. And if the hugely successful American events are anything to go by, tickets will sell out fast!” said Michael Clapham, Show Producer.

In addition to seeing the most life-size models and participating in fun building challenges, Brick Fest Live attendees can:

- See life-size models
- Help Build a Guinness World-Record Setting Floor Mosaic
- Express your creativity at the hands-on build zones
- Race your brick-built car down the 35' long derby ramps

Sam Jackson, Controller, Radio 3 and BBC Proms said: “Following last year’s hugely successful BBC Proms Gateshead, I am delighted we’re returning for another weekend festival at the Glasshouse International Centre for Music. Audiences in the North-East of England can look forward to a programme bursting with Proms flavour and local talent, including the welcome return of the Royal Northern Sinfonia and the Voices of the River’s Edge community youth choir, and the BBC Proms debut of rising star Jordan Rakei. For those who can’t join us in Gateshead, every note will be broadcast on Radio 3 and BBC Sounds.”

BBC Proms at The Glasshouse takes place from Friday 26 July to Sunday 28 July 2024. Tickets for all events, including promming (standing) tickets, will go on sale at 12noon on Thursday 25 April.
